William Gillen, a New York Man, Fired into a Crowd of His Tormentors and Mortally Wounded William Wynn.

NEW YORK, June 5.—William Gillen, 24 years old, was attacked by a gang of twenty men tonight at his home in East Sixteenth street. When he refused to admit the intruders, several shots were fired through the door. He was struck on the forehead by a bullet and slightly wounded. He fired into the crowd and probably mortally wounded William Wynn, 19 years old. Gillen and Wynn were arrested and charged with felonious assault, and three others were taken by the police as accessories. Other arrests are expected.

Gillen refused to make any complaint against the prisoners. He said the trouble was the culmination of a quarrel started three weeks ago over a fishing line. In the afternoon Gillen had been assaulted by the gang. He received a stab wound over the right eye and was shot in the back. Although it was broad daylight the men, escaped and Gillen walked to the hospital where his injury was dressed.

When the men appeared at Gillen's home tonight, one of them shouted "Gillen, come here, we want to kill you." Gillen shouted defiance and it was then that the gang fired through the door of the house. The shot created a panic in the house and, having been heard in the street, attracted a great crowd. Gillen opened the door and began shooting.

After the arrests were made the police reserves had to be called out to protect the prisoners from the crowd in the street, which threatened to lynch Gillen's assailants.

MONEY GONE AND WILL CLING TO ALL HIS WIVES

Riot Resulted From Stopping Bull Fight at St. Louis.

ARENA BURNED TO GROUND

MOR ROUGHLY HANDLED BY DEPUTY SHERIFFS.

ST. LOUIS, June 5.—Increased over their failure to see a "genuine Spanish bull fight," which the authorities had ordered stopped, a riot was started in an arena near the World's fair grounds by a crowd of 2,500 men and boys who were unable to get their money back, and the building was burned to the ground. The price of admission charged was $1. Four men were placed under arrest by the authorities of St. Louis county, charged with destruction of property. The crowd, thinking their money was connected with the show, made an attempt to mob them, and in their encounter with the deputy sheriffs a number were roughly handled and several received scalp wounds. The building is said to have cost $25,000. It is a total loss, with no insurance.

STOPPED BY GOVERNOR.

The initial performance by the company of Spanish bull fighters had been advertised widely, and the governor, in response to numerous complaints, ordered that it be not allowed to take place. The crowd, however, gathered in the arena at the advertised time of opening. Before the regular performance a number of cowboys drove Spanish bull fighters and ran around the arena in true wild west style. The crowd soon became tired of this and called for the bull fight. The announced performance was then made, but the bull fight would be proceeded with. As the matadors came into the ring a county official stepped up to the crowd and handed him a paper, informing him that the proposed show could not take place.

When this became known to the crowd the people rushed into the arena and demanded the return of their money. Failing to get this, the crowd went to the office, which was located in a small building outside the arena, and began to stone the structure. This was followed by attempts to burn the arena, which is an immense building constructed of pine. Bits of burning paper were thrown at the wood, and finally someone went inside and dropped a lighted match in a pile of hay under the arena. The whole structure was soon on fire, and before long was in flames.

The fire engine that responded to the alarm stuck in the mud, and there was nothing to stop the progress of the flames. The fire department of the World's fair was called out to protect the fair buildings should it become necessary, but the wind blew in another direction.

Under one circumstance, and one alone, can this be broken, and that is when man proves himself true to his trust, derives in his duty to God and man, forsakes the teachings of the world, and enters the church and casts aside his wife. If then becomes like the man who shall take even that which he hath sold to take away from him and given to him who has ten.

DEFENDS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

"I want to impress upon you the sacredness and hallowfulness of the marriage relation. I would as soon think of ridiculing the attributes of God as of God as to make a light or joking allusion to my marriage life."

At the marriage ceremony, a custom prevalent through the world, of holding up the mother-in-law to ridicule and contempt. Now, I want to say that I have never held up my mother-in-law. I loved and revered her, and she loved and revered me. I am closing, President Smith urged all young people to realize the solemnity of marriage, to consider and the responsibility of the marriage relation, and to prepare themselves as thoroughly and adequately as possible for the holy immortal marriage relation.
